Speaking Topics

Patio Farming

Did you know that you can grow a food garden in containers? This fun, informative presentation will show you to grow great vegetables, herbs and fruits in small spaces.

Gardening Unearthed!

7 Key Factors to Grow Your Own Healthy, Organic Food. Can you imagine picking those fresh bell peppers with your children, and then making them into dinner? How about a homegrown lettuce, cucumber, and strawberry salad for lunch? It's possible, and Kari teaches you how.

Secrets of Growing Tasty Tomatoes

If you have never tasted a homegrown tomato, you are missing out! Because tomatoes from a garden are superior to those bought from the market, many people want to grow them. But they can be tricky! Kari shows you how easy and satisfying it is to grow them successfully.

Bio

Kari is a popular college instructor, co-founder of Grow PHX, dynamic speaker with a passion for Local Food, the author of City Farming - and a long time advocate for Growing your Own Healthy, Delicious, Economical Food.

From her extensive experience as a gardener and urban farm, Kari shows audiences the simple steps that anyone can take to grow a portion of what they eat every day. She teaches in the Urban Farm Department at South West Institute of Healing Arts, and is often seen speaking in front of large public audiences as a Master Gardener and Master Farmer. She truly enjoys helping others to live healthier, more satisfying lives through gardening.
